

THE BARRE DAILY TIMES

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1911.

Published every week-day afternoon.
 Subscriptions: One year, $3.00; one month, 25 cents; single copy, 1 cent.

Entered at the post office at Barre as second-class matter.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

We're waiting for chapter 3 of the president's message serial.

Senator Page's long association with printer's ink fits him well for that new appointment on the Senate printing committee. His career may well be called a printed page.

The cordial reception to Joseph A. DeBoer in Burlington is only one of many indications to show that the people of Vermont are interested in his open, frank candidacy for governor of Vermont.

The Congressional Record, the chronicle of that which is said and much of that which is done in Congress, starts off its 48th volume modestly and with no "scare heads," simply asserting that the second session of the 62nd Congress opened. For anti-yellow journalism, this contemporary is a fine type of colorlessness.

Worcester is boasting because the water registrar's census shows that the city has 25,474 bathtubs in 14,701 dwelling houses.—Boston Globe.

It is unfortunate that we're not supplied with information about the decrease in the number of coalbins. Not till then can we be sure of Worcester's real right to take pride in the bathtub increase.

Although 85,000 women were privileged to vote on the question, prohibition was defeated in the recent Los Angeles election by the vote of 31,691 to 87,344. Much argument in favor of woman's suffrage in Vermont has been based on the assumption that the women—most of them, at least—would vote in favor of prohibition. Perhaps, however, the women of Los Angeles are of different stamp than the women of Vermont; and perhaps, therefore, there is no accurate basis for comparison.

THE WILLIAMSTOWN LIBRARY.
 The people of the neighboring town of Williamstown are to be congratulated on the combination of circumstances which gave them a good public library, the building through the generosity of Mrs. Laura L. Ainsworth, the books through the consolidation of already existing libraries and the earnest support as shown by the decision of the voters at a town meeting not long ago. They will find that the new library will become a center of the intellectual life of the community, having a large impress on the well-being of its citizens. Would that all villages and hamlets of Vermont were as well equipped as Williamstown!

BARRE AND MONTPELIER.
 For having "loaned" their president for a brief time so that he could explain the progress being made by their organization, the Montpelier Board of Trade members have the hearty thanks of the Barre Board of Trade, whose members had the pleasure last evening of listening to W. C. Colton, who is an enthusiastic booster for Montpelier, Washington county and the state of Vermont. President Colton is a firm believer in what Montpelier and Barre have right at hand, and his presentation of the matter last evening was a source of inspiration, because of the very evident note of sincerity back of his words. His plea for greater co-operation between the two boards of trade seemed to find quite ready response from the Barre people, and it seems entirely practicable for the two cities to take up certain matters jointly and to their mutual benefit. The formation of a county board of trade, while at the same time each community retains its own organization of the sort, would do wonders toward advancing the interests of Washington county, which even now is one of the most progressive sections of the state, blessed as it is with fine natural resources and splendid agricultural advantages. We have the best in the line of granite, and first-class slate also; we have productive land; and the two cities of themselves furnish no mean market for a considerable portion of the products which might be raised from those lands. Therefore, the plan of co-operation to take advantage of those opportunities is something which the citizens of the two cities would do well to consider seriously and with deliberation.

Open an Account To-day

There is no time like the present.

So if you will just make up your mind to come into the "GRANITE" to-day and open an account you will be starting on the right road. It's the start that counts—the rest is comparatively easy. Your pleasure in seeing your account grow larger will bring into action all your perseverance and determination to save—and you will save. To-day is the day.

GRANITE
 Savings Bank and Trust Company, Barre, Vermont

This is our platform! Every plank spells satisfaction to every customer and we don't try to crawl out after election or after a sale.

A rough cloth and a slim cut is the rule this season. Coats that cut into the figure; straight trousers; high vests, no fashion-plate effect.

The exact styles that lead in Fifth Avenue, Broadway and in Wall Street are here.

Suits, $10 to $40.

"All ready for Christmas."

TALK OF THE TOWN

Saturday, last day of Abbott's overstocked sale.
 See our line of French flannel waists, Paris Shirts and ties.
 Auction sale at the City Auction this afternoon and evening.

H. H. Lane of Springfield was a business visitor in the city yesterday. Tenement to Rent—Seven rooms on Averill street. Apply to C. W. Averill.

Alex. Ross of Montreal is passing several days with friends in Barre and vicinity.
 Public Scotch dance, Worthen hall, Saturday, Dec. 9, at 8 p. m.; gents 50 cents, ladies free.
 Public whist party in Foresters' hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Admission 10c. Everyone invited.
 "Belle Mead Sweets"—chocolates fresh and pure. At the Barre Drug Co.'s drug store, corner Main and Merchant streets.
 Why allow another Christmas to go by without a piano? At Gould-made prices you could hardly spend your money more wisely.

The stonecutters' band will go to-morrow afternoon to Waterbury to furnish music for an Italian dance to be held there to-morrow evening.

A choice line of Christmas booklets, post cards, letters, prayer books, leather goods, fountain pens, gift books, latest fiction, etc., etc., at the Barre Book Store.

"Eutaska," the oriental perfume that is in a class by itself; $1.00 per ounce and very reasonable at that, considering the quality. At the Barre Drug Co.'s drug store.
 Polishes! notice! Special meeting Barre polishers' branch, G. C. L. A., in their hall, Nichols block, Friday evening, Dec. 8, at 7 p. m. Business to consider, amendments to the constitution. W. G. Pirie, sec.

If there are any ladies of the Congregational parish, who have not been solicited for the Christmas sale December 12 and 13, donations of fancy work, aprons, food, preserves and pickles will be appreciated.

The river in the rear of the Trow & Holden plant on South Main street is said to afford excellent skating and last night a large number of young people were on the ice. According to the skaters, the ice has already frozen to a depth of five inches.

C. A. Merrill has sold his house at 74 Maple avenue to Mrs. Fitzgerald, negotiations for the transfer having been completed yesterday. The consideration named in the deed is said to have been nominal. Mrs. Fitzgerald will take possession at once.

"The Gamblers," Charles Klein's highly successful play, which comes to the opera house to-night, is a Wall street drama with get-rich-quick trimmings. It shows how a young Napoleon of finance can involve honorable bankers by his reckless methods, and even tie them up in the meshes of the United States authorities. In the course of all this he very nearly ruins his own father, whom he afterward seeks to save by assuming all the blame.

Who Will Claim Them?

Letters uncalled for at the Barre post-office for the week ending December 7: Men: Archie Cannon, Geo. Cassie, Fred Cunningham, Chas. Dolan, E. Fargley, J. H. Green, A. A. Hans, Fred A. Johnson, C. H. Kenson, John Laird, Lynn B. Nelson, Eessut Parson, Albert Sanders. Women: Mrs. Annie R. Blake, Mrs. Willie Duncan, Miss Gladys Fletcher, Miss Christine Haggitt, two, Miss B. Henderson, Miss Maggie Smith.

At 315 North Main Street

You Will Find a Very Complete Line of Jewelry, Silverware and Novelties Suitable for Christmas Gifts.

If you have not yet made us a call we would ask you to accept this as a special invitation to make us a visit. We possibly have some articles you may not find elsewhere and you will find our prices very reasonable. We have some very nice articles in Sterling Silver Deposit Ware, which is something not generally carried in jewelry stores. Call and get acquainted and let us show you the goods and we are very sure you will be interested.

Mr. and Mrs. William Trombley have moved from Jefferson street into the Lane block at 1 Seminary street.

Ben. H. Tassie has moved his household goods into the Lane block at the corner of North Main and Seminary streets.

We have offered a good many blanket values, but the one on Saturday at 75c each surpasses any. On sale at Perry's on Saturday.

Fred P. Smith has finished his duties as porter at the hotel Otis and went yesterday to his home in Worcester for a few days' visit before returning to the city.

Come in to "Holt's" barber shop, 68 North Main street. Get an automatic razor strop, take it home, give it a good trial and if satisfied bring in $2.00; no pay until given a thorough trial. H. A. Holt, agent.

Charles A. Kent is detained from his duties at the Smith & Cummings store as the result of an accident which befell him at his home on Orange street yesterday. While descending from a stone step, Mr. Kent fell and suffered a severe strain of the ankle which will confine him to the house for several days.

"Maud Muller." With all that poetic charm of which Whittier was absolute master, he pictures to us a midsummer day's casual meeting between Maud Muller, a simple country lass, and the judge, refined, dignified, and born to the purple. The judge carries a moment by Maud's hay field to quaff a cup of spring water. Perchance he lingers a little longer than necessary; at any rate, as they separate, each becomes conscious of a pitiful longing that has lodged in their hearts. The years roll on—Maud marries a man unlearned and poor, the judge weds a woman of his own caste, who lives for fashion, while he lives for power; and still, in the heart of both the judge and the country lass there lingers that aching void—that pitiful yearning that will never realize satisfaction—and many a time and oft into the mind of each comes this thought, "And of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: 'It might have been.'" It's a Dreamland.

The Search for a Policy commences when a man dies. What a point from which to view one of our propensities. Intention to insure is no asset, and a prospectus is not a policy. You must get a policy now if you wish to have it then.

TALK OF THE TOWN

For jewelry and silverware that have quality, go to Holmes, the jeweler, Gordon block.

To Rent—Tenement on Summer street. Family without children. W. F. Richardson.

All the small stringed instruments, suitable for Christmas presents, at H. A. Gould's, Spaulding street.

A piano affords instruction and enjoyment to the whole household for a generation at least, and the Gould way has made the purchase easy.

Remember! All goods selected this week for delivery before Christmas will be figured at 10 per cent. discount. Henry W. Knight, successor to Veale & Knight.

An excellent entertainment was witnessed by the patrons of the Pavilion last night. Both acts are exceptionally good. The comedy aerial bar act presented by the Loretta twins is undoubtedly one of the best aerial acts ever seen in the city. The act is a series of flying somersaults from bar to bar. The most difficult work is done by a young lady, who showed herself a master of her craft. Every trick is executed with remarkable ease and grace and the feats done include all manner of evolutions up to a double somersault finish. Rawlston and son furnished the comedy part of the vaudeville program. Rawlston is about three feet in height and his son measures nearly six feet in height. The team presents an excellent comedy act, which seemed to be highly appreciated by the audience.
